Firefighters seek hike of 2 mills

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The Romulus firefighters' subdued effort to amend the city charter by adding up 2 mills to the annual budget strictly for fire department needs will face the city voters next Tuesday.

At Monday night's City Council meeting, Fire Chief William Greenslait distributed a red and white pamphlet that stressed "Vote Yes March 2nd...The Life They Save May Be Yours!"

Ironically a Romulus citizen, whose name was neither caught by the press nor City Clerk Linda Choate, asked why the vote was not held last November so that the city did not have to pay $10,000 extra for next Tuesday's solo ballot offering.

He also demanded to know why the referendum was being scheduled at all.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry explained that the additional two mills that would be added "would be used strictly for fire department needs. The tax money cannot be used for any other purpose, no matter how great the crisis."

Councilman Russ Lambert denied any secret effort to pass the referendum. Lambert, who has been meeting weekly with firefighters, to press for voter passage of the millage hike said he has spoken out on the firefighters' plan several times at open council meetings.

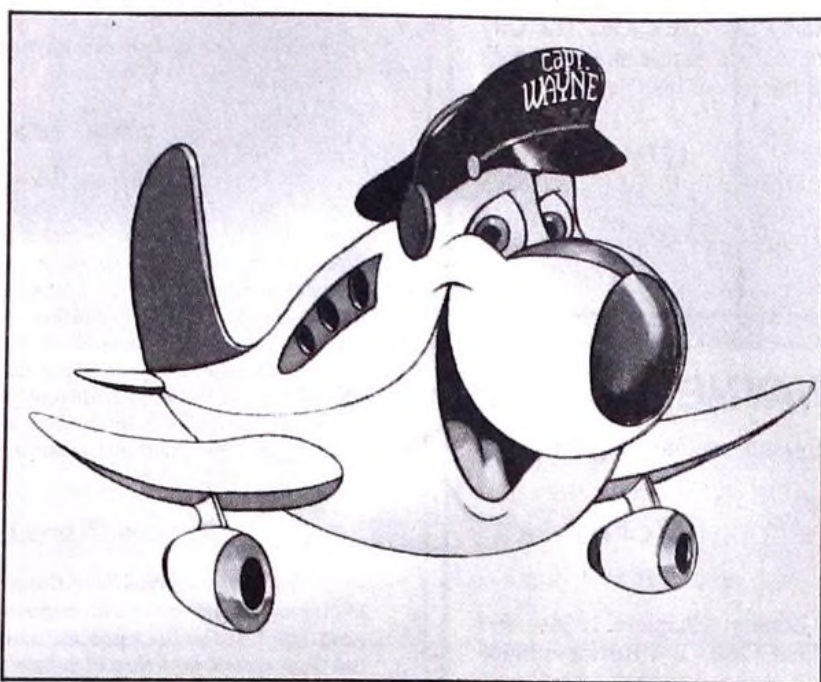

The citizen complained that Romulus taxpayers will be facing a number of other tax hikes in the next few months, some from Lansing and some from the new Clinton administration.

The pamphlet Greenslait was distributing states the (tax) money will be used for: purchasing new fire equipment such as a new 100-foot aerial platform for rescue and firefighting efforts as well as automatic defibrillation (heart starting machines) to revive fire and heart attack victims.

Other items slated for purchase if the referendum passes are modern firefighters' suits prepared for the 1990's, more up-to-date fire fighting equipment and additional rescue equipment.

Tax money would also be used for additional fire education and training programs, the campaign literature states.

Cost of the approved millage would be about $50 or less for the average household, firefighters said. In the meantime, it was explained that the cost of the printed pamphlet was paid for by the Community (EMS) Emergency Medical Service.

Visitors to Detroit Metro Airport will be treated to the comical image of Captain Wayne, the newly created airport mascot unveiled for the first time Monday afternoon.

Metro Airport mascot unveiled

ANP Staff Writer

Captain Wayne, the newly created Detroit Metro Airport spokes-creature, was introduced to the public for the first time Feb. 15 by County Executive Edward H. McNamara.

Sketches of the smiling multi-colored character already are appearing on various airport traffic signs, Michael Conway, airport spokesman revealed.

His likeness will also appear in various airport information publications to direct attention to the progress of the $400 million parking expansion project.

In an effort to display his sense of humor, one cartoon drawing slated for a parking deck area during the construction period shows travelers being transported in airport parking golf carts.

Truck traffic to be curtailed

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Truck traffic will soon be halted on Harrison Road, between Goddard and Northline roads, members of the Romulus City Council ruled Monday night.

City Clerk Linda Choate revealed that Romulus police conducted several traffic investigations of the area after receiving a number of citizen complaints.

Traffic Officer Jerome Yoscovits reported that the roadway is a 23-foot-wide, two-lane road running north and south with a posted 35-mph speed limit.

The area is primarily residential, Yoscovits wrote, with 21 residences and three businesses.

Residents complain that truckers travel down Harrison Road, which they claim is not wide enough for trucks, in an effort to bypass Middlebelt Road and often strike and damage curved guard rails at the corners of the roadways.

A check with the Department of Public Works shows that the guard rails have been repaired seven times in the past year.

Yoscovits traveled to the area twice and found damaged rails and the area of Harrison between Northline and Eureka is covered with gravel and is listed as being in extremely poor condition.

There are 14 houses and two businesses, including a former school, on that stretch alone, Yoscovits said.

Since much of the adjoining land is owned by the Metro Airport, it is felt that the land will be developed in the future. "In the interest of public safety for children, who live in the area," Yoscovits stated, "prohibiting commercial vehicles would enhance the area."

The traffic officer stated also, "It appears that this is a poor short cut from Northline to Wick Roads."

In a second unrelated traffic study, Yoscovits said he conducted five separate speed surveys on Goddard Road, between Hunt and Wayne roads, and found 85 percent of the motorists were clocked at 37 mph in the posted 25 zone.

Yoscovits recommended, "Should the speed limit in this area be increased, I would suggest that the current two lanes be divided into three. The center turn lane would facilitate slowing of vehicles wanting to turn left and keep the flow of other traffic flowing in a safe manner."

While no council action was taken on the issue Monday night, Councilman Noah "Pete" Bergeron urged that the speed limit be increased to a "modern level."

4-year-old rape case being readied for trial

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

New evidence has resulted in sexual assault charges against a man who allegedly raped a Romulus woman in 1989.

More than four years ago a single Romulus mother told police she was raped repeatedly by a man, who draped her 11-year-old daughter's jacket over his face to keep his identity secret.

The 36-year-old victim told police that her attacker smashed a window in her Smith Street townhouse about 3:30 a.m. Jan. 14, 1989, to gain access to the home.

The noise awakened her, the victim reported, and she went downstairs to check out the rooms, but found no one.

The woman returned to her bed and a short time later heard a noise outside the room where her daughter was sleeping, Detective Sgt. Dan Snyder reported.

She quickly exited her room and attracted the intruder's attention to keep him away from her child, Snyder said. The intruder then forced the mother into her own bedroom and began a series of varied sexual attacks on her.

The victim struck her attacker with a glass candle holder, which left blood smears from his head in the bedroom, Snyder said, but the attacker continued to abuse the woman.

Midway in the series of attacks, Snyder reported, the victim's cries awoke her daughter. But the mother called out to the girl that everything was okay and pleaded with her to stay in her own room.

As the rapist left the victim's home, he warned her not to call the police.

Snyder said the victim instead drove to the nearby Romulus Police Headquarters and reported the attack. She was treated and examined at Annapolis Hospital and later moved out of Romulus.

In recent weeks Romulus Detective Sgt. Cora Sempau received new evidence in the case. The evidence led to the arrest of Donald Ray Nicholson, 36, of Romulus on Feb. 4 and the filing of three separate first degree sexual assault charges.

Nicholson was arraigned the next day and ordered held on $50,000 cash bond.

Last week Nicholson appeared before Szlinis again as a witness testified that Nicholson confessed to raping the mother four years ago.

Deoxyribonucleic acid (DNA) tests also have been done on the blood left behind at the rape scene and blood samples taken from Nicholson, Snyder said.

Slated to be used in the case against Nicholson will be DNA profile reports on the blood found at the scene and his own blood samples.

While the DNA samples are not as powerful as fingerprints in criminal identifications, they can add a massive probability ratio in identifying criminal suspects, state police crime lab specialists say.

To date DNA profiles can be created from blood, semen and vaginal secretions, crime lab specialists reveal. At the present time efforts are being made in the science labs to add saliva to that list.

Assessment appeals near

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Bracing for potentially record-breaking requests for assessment reviews in Romulus, Director of Assessments Matthew Raftary cautioned area residents to be aware that 20-percent assessment hikes do not equate to 20-percent residential tax hikes.

With the Headlee Rollback in effect, Raftary said, a 20-percent assessment hike can really mean a 13-percent hike in tax dollars.

Raftary explained to city council members Monday night that, "The City of Romulus has just completed a 100-percent re-inspection of all properties within the city."

Assessment department workers have traveled about the city in the past year, taken color photos of all homes in the city, updated all "property record cards" and computerized all findings so that they can be examined at the touch of a computer key, Raftary said.

"After an official inspection of the city assessment records in 1987, we were told that we had not done an adequate inspection of each domestic homesite in recent years," Raftary said.

Therefore the assessor's office reviewed all business and industrial property sites and in 1991 began the complex procedure of updating all 8,500 residential properties within the city, Raftary said.

"During the city-wide inspection period, we found lots of property upgrades, various demolished sites not previously recorded and numerous other property value changes," Raftary explained.

The director of assessments is confident that the Romulus property records are now so modern and complete, "We feel Wayne County will implement our appraisals instead of theirs in the future."

With the local 1993 Board of Review sessions about to

That petition must be brought to the Board of Review session.

hear your appeal without this petition."

Equally important, Raftary said, is the fact that appeal appointments cannot be rescheduled.

"Please recognize that the board hears appeals on the valuation and/or classification of your property only," he continued.

"Their concerns are whether the assessment of your property is fair and equitable, not how much you pay in taxes," Raftary emphasized.

Raftary's office staff will also include a copy of the appellant's property record. Raftary urged each property owner to review that card immediately upon receiving it and notify his office if there are any errors.

"The correction of any errors may eliminate the need for you to appear before the Board of Review," Raftary said.

"If you plan to cancel your review time slot, please notify the assessor's office so the time period can be offered to someone else," Raftary said.

Since the residential tax issue remains very fluid, Raftary said, homeowners should remain alert with events in Lansing, as well as Wayne County.

Raftary said that any school tax reform package probably will not be approved by the State Legislature until after the Board of Review meeting sessions, so it is important that appeals be filed where needed.

After appealing their cases before the Board of Review, each resident should receive a letter explaining the decision of the board. The board has three options; lower the assessment, keep the assessment at the same level or, in some cases, even hike the assessment, Raftary said.

Residents have the right to appeal the Board of Review's decision before the Michigan Tax Tribunal.

Suspended students to remain in school

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP News Editor

Students in the Wayne-Westland school district who require disciplinary action will find themselves in school instead of being sent home.

School board members approved an in-school suspension program last Monday night that will keep students in school doing class work throughout the school day.

"I believe students should be in school," said school board member Francis "Bud" Winter, who is also the former principal of Wayne Memorial High School. "My only concern is that I hope we're not taking more responsibility away from parents. For too long, the schools have been assuming the responsibility of the parents."

Students who commit one of the infractions that fall into the in-school suspension program category will spend their suspension time in a classroom rather than at home.

Students who commit any of the following violations will be sent to the in-school suspension room: hall privileges, leave a closed campus, dress code violations, failure to comply with detention, failure to present student identification cards, failure to follow locker policies, forgery, gambling, heckling or displaying poor sportsmanship in public, intimidation, profanity, vulgarity, smoking, tardiness, throwing objects, unauthorized sale of food and or merchandise and truancy.

Last year, students at Marshall Junior High School who violated any of the above infractions participated in a pilot in-school suspension program. Some parents questioned whether their children were actually doing class-work while in the in-school suspension classroom.

"I didn't see a plus in that," said Kathy Green, a resident and mother of a Marshall Junior High School student. "During that time, a large portion of that day was spent leisurely reading."

Students who don't obey orders to attend the in-school suspension program, will not be allowed in any of their regular classes.

"If a student commits an infraction and is placed in the in-house suspension room, they will have the opportunity to go there and if they don't go there, they will be sent home," said Bill Taylor, associate superintendent of employee services.

Other board members were pleased that the program would have very little disruption to the educational process.

The Helping Hand Thrift Shop of Romulus received a helping hand last week when $1,045 was presented to volunteer Director Florence Klein by Caroline Landis, Romulus chairperson of the 1992 CROP walk.

Landis, who has served as Romulus CROP chairperson for three years, said she was thrilled so many persons turned out for the Romulus-Belleville fundraising event.

"I want to thank the Romulus business owners for their generosity and the volunteer walkers for their commitment to helping others," Landis said.

Special thanks went out to Gayle Coleman of Romulus Senior High School for her involvement in encouraging high school students to join the two-city adventure, Landis said.

More than 250 walkers joined in the marathon walk that began in Romulus at the Community United Methodist Church and continued on into Belleville. The group collected more than $17,000 for the local and international victims of hunger.

More than $4,100 of that total sum remained in the Romulus and Belleville area for distribution to local causes.

In 1992 Romulus High School teacher Lance Knudson was the top pledge gatherer in the city with more than $1,000 in donations pledged.

Klein thanked Romulus residents "for all you've done, especially for the check of $1,045.19."

She also praised the walkers for a "beautiful job" and cited Landis and her husband, the Rev. Dr. J.D. Landis, saying "without this type of support we couldn't survive."

Klein said, "We give food, clothing and baby things to the needy. But let's get more of the community involved in this task...for if we don't pay our bills the Helping Hand Thrift Shop won't last."

The non-profit organization has been in operation for the past 30 years. It is staffed by volunteers and is located at 37510 Huron River Drive. The store is open from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Council approves memorial resolutions

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Subdued Romulus City Council members approved six memorial resolutions Monday night for area residents who had died in the past week.

An emotional Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann Banks began by citing the death of Wilbur "Bud" Koester, a member of the city police, fire and safety committee, whose funeral was earlier that day.

Banks cited the fact that Koester was one of the most faithful attendees at City Council meetings for many years.

A former constable, Mr. Koester also was instrumental in the founding of the Romulus Volunteer Fire Department and the Romulus Jaycees.

Banks also mentioned three other prominent Romulus residents who died recently including former Romulus Hardware Store owner Tony Kopas, the premier archery specialist Richard Springer and Virginia Britz, who had just retired from the Romulus Post office and was active with the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary and other groups.

Mayor Beverly McAnally also entered two other names of individuals who had made their mark on Romulus residents.

Help wanted: Playwright seeks help of composer

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

When Angelle Horste was a student, she saw and read everything she could about The Phantom of the Opera, but the ending never satisfied her.

So, the only thing left for her to do when she graduated from Eastern Michigan University (EMU) with a bachelor's degree in theater arts was to write her own version of the classic - this time with an ending she liked. Her only problem now is that she needs a musician who can compose a score for her original play.

"I'm hoping that a local musician - from Romulus or Belleville - can compose the music for me," said Horste. "It will have to be someone special, because the music must be funny, eerie and weird."

The young writer has been a long-time fan of Gothic novels.

"From the time I read the original story on which the play, The Phantom of the Opera was based, I loved the story. However, I was annoyed at the ending because Christine leaves the phantom. I hoped that someone would have written a different version, but in all of the phantom stories I've read, it always ends the same way," Horste said. "I thought the story could be re-written to say that the phantom was misunderstood and that he was blamed for things that he didn't do. Then, he and Christine could live happily ever after."

Horste credits Kevin Gray, the star of the recent production of Phantom which was staged in Detroit, for her inspiration to write her play.

"He was so great in the play, that I sent him a flower after the show. He called me and, while we were talking, he suggested that I write a play of my own," Horste said. "Wouldn't it be great if some day Kevin could come back to Detroit to star in my play, especially if I were playing Christine?"

The young actress-writer believes her double focus in the theater will work to her advantage.

"If you write the play, you can write good parts for yourself. There wouldn't be any problem with stupid lines or weak motivation," she said.

Horste describes her play,

Fanny of the Opera, as a Gothic farce, loosely based on the characters in Phantom of the Opera.

When the play is completed, the actress-writer plans to take it to the Purple Rose Theatre and to an Ann Arbor theater group that produces original plays. She also will investigate the possibility of the new community theater group staging her original play.

The play is ready to complete as soon as the spirit moves a composer to phone the young playwright at 699-7968.

Council demands plan

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The Romulus City Council voted Monday night to send a request for a detailed soil removal plan to Wayne City Manager John Zech, prior to scheduling any public hearing on the Wayne wetland proposal for the southeast corner of Hannan and Van Born roads.

The details sought by Romulus should include specifics on the nature and extent of excavation at that site, initial grade, final grade, statement of proposed hours of operation, names of public roads Wayne will utilize, copies of any permits which are applicable for such use and expected completion date.

The recommendation for the detailed plan request came from the office of Assistant City Attorney Stuart Trager and was passed on by Mayor Beverly McAnally.

The legal opinion was forwarded to McAnally after the Romulus City Council members demanded to know "the necessity and nature of a public hearing regarding the soil removal."

Romulus has heatedly opposed the Wayne effort, but has lost repeated suits in the courts.

Michigan's Department of Natural Resources has approved the Wayne plan to remove 50,000 cubic yards of top soil to construct a 57-acre wetland to mitigate the loss of wetlands inside Wayne during the expansion of the Ford Motor Plant.

Trager explained "the current issue relates solely to the regulation of the excavation and removal of soil. It is our opinion that the City of Romulus Zoning Code, Section 4.28, requires a public hearing because of the extensive soil removal."

Thus before the City Council can approve such a permit for Wayne, a public hearing needs to be conducted, Trager re-emphasized.

Assessor clarifies increases

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus Director of Assessments Matthew Raftary advised Mayor Beverly McAnally that a local resident, who claimed her 1993 taxes increased 33 percent, actually saw an "assessment increase of 27.8 percent."

Raftary said the woman, who spoke out at the overflow City Hall meeting with Wayne County Assistant Executive Michael Duggan earlier this month, "misspoke and meant to say she was receiving a 27 percent" assessment hike.

"Initially our records indicated that her property would receive a 33 percent assessment increase. When she visited our office we discovered that information, supplied by her, regarding the number of bathrooms was incorrect," Raftary said.

"After that correction, the actual increase of the assessment was 27.8 percent, not 33 percent," Raftary said.

Despite the property owner's claim that she had made no changes, Raftary said, "As far as we can tell, she constructed a 132 square foot addition to her house, installed a fireplace and extended the front porch from 16 square feet to 132 square feet."

All of the new construction was completed without city permits or inspections, Raftary said. "Together with market adjustments, these changes to the property makeup the increase in the assessment," Raftary concluded.

Due to the expiration of the assessment freeze, Raftary added, the market adjustments are more dramatic than in the past.

"Let us stress once again," the assessor said, "an assessment increase of 20 percent does not translate to a 20-percent tax increase."

Students reach for the stars

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Low-income, college-bound students from the Romulus and Van Buren school districts are participating in the Student Talent Academy - Reaching for Success (STARS) program.

They are among 348 middle and high school students from eight downriver and western Wayne County school districts who are challenging their "at risk" label by participating in the Saturday program at the Western Campus of Wayne County Community College.

The program, sponsored by the Wayne County Regional Educational Service Agency (RESA) is funded by a federal grant.

"The program offers a college-like creative curriculum to convince students to stay in school and to enroll in some form of post-secondary education after high school graduation," said Dr. Pat Caraher, RESA consultant.

Caraher, a 1973 graduate of Wayne County Community College, was once considered at risk himself. After being discharged from the Navy, Caraher was aware that his previous low grades did not make him college material. He attended "store front" classes at WCCC and later graduated from Wayne State University where he earned a doctorate in education.

His participation in the program to help at-risk students through the Saturday Academy is his way of giving back to the community the skills for success that he received.

Professional dance group enters Wayne spotlight

story by Margo
Dewey

Western Wayne County residents can expect to be dazzled tonight by the spectacular performance of the Detroit Ballet Theatre (DBT) at the State Wayne Theatre on Michigan Avenue.

Professional dancers ranging in age from 10 to 50 years old will be presenting a variety of classical ballet excerpts including selected pieces from the Nutcracker, according to Gerald O'Day, founder of the Detroit Ballet Theatre and the O'Day School of Dance.

"This will be a two-hour show," O'Day said. "Besides the classical ballet, we will also have a few contemporary pieces from Sinatra's music."

The Detroit Ballet Theatre is located in North Rosedale Park and was founded by Gerald and his wife Leslie O'Day in 1983. Together they have developed a varied repertoire of ballet, jazz, tap and modern dance, while maintaining a strong classical ballet base.

When schedules permit, the year is filled with community outreach performances at hospitals, private schools and homes for the elderly.

The group received a Community Service award from Wayne County for "outstanding contributions to the quality of life in Wayne County."

The philosophy of the DBT is to encourage dancers to explore their limits regardless of age or race.

The O'Days believe the community outreach performances are the best of two worlds because: "they help maintain the company's repertoire and develop new works and dancers while bringing the fantasy and joy of dance to many who could not otherwise delight in the experience that warms the hearts of both dancer and audience; giving reason to work in the art form."

Leslie O'Day said the world of dance has changed throughout the years especially in the area of job opportunities.

"There are definitely more opportunities for dancers today because there are more things dancers can do, for example Star Search," O'Day said.

The dancers tonight are from various communities in Wayne County including Redford and Livonia. O'Day said the group has been practicing quite extensively for the State Wayne performance.

The O'Day School where the Detroit Ballet Theatre is headquartered has established an outstanding reputation for content and quality of instruction, particularly technique.

O'Day School offers career and non-career students exposure to professional level dance training and performance opportunities facilitated by members.

Serious students are encouraged to audition for junior membership in the DBT and advance through the ranks as their abilities rise to the occasion.

Ballet in Germany. As the Detroit Ballet group practiced their steps at the State Wayne last week, two mothers were watching their daughters with pride and encouragement.

Kali Keller, 14, of Detroit, has been dancing since she was 3 years old, according to her mother Cassandra. Keller attends Bates Academy in Detroit.

"I at first forced her to take the lessons when she was very little," Cassandra Keller said. "Now, she enjoys it, and she wants to continue with it until she gets on points."

Trying to balance dance practice with school and homework can be grueling, but Keller said her daughter manages quite well.

"She takes dance every day except Friday," Keller said. "I'm a working mom. I'm a letter carrier. I come home to fix dinner and then we go to ballet practice which is from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m."

"It gets tiring sometimes, but it's worth it."

Keller said her daughter doesn't have any aspirations to become a professional dancer. She hopes to major in math when she attends college in the near future, according to her mother.

Katie Nelson, 13, of Livonia, has also been dancing since she was a little girl. Her mother, Peggy, said dance has helped her daughter with her coordination.

"She really enjoys all the different kinds of dance," Nelson said. "She practices on the average of 10 to 12 hours a day."

What does a committed classical and modern dance student eat to maintain her figure?

"She eats junk food," Nelson said. "Like every teenager. She eats all kinds of junk food."

The Detroit Ballet Theatre is scheduled to perform 7:30 p.m. tonight at the State Wayne Theater. Tickets are $5 for adults and $3 for children. Tickets can be purchased at the box office (326-4600), Wayne Community Center (721-7400) or at any Ticketmaster outlet.

honored as the picture of the year.

When the 65th annual Academy Awards are presented on March 29, these nominees will be in the competition:

• Best Director: Neil Jordan (Crying Game); James Ivory (Howards End); Robert Altman (The Player); Martin Brest (Scent of a Woman); and Clint Eastwood (Unforgiven).

Two tie-breaking questions are: Who will win the Best Makeup award among the nominees, Batman Returns, Bram Stoker's Dracula or Hoffa and which of three nominees will win the Best Visual Effects award, Alien 3, Batman Returns or Death Becomes Her.

Entries must be received at Associated Newspapers, P.O. Box 578, Wayne, Mich. 48184, by 5 p.m. March 26 to be eligible.

Six passes for two to the Canton or Novi Cinema theaters will be awarded to our grand prize winner. The four runners-up will each receive two passes for two to the theater.

In the event of a draw, the answers to the two tie-breakers will determine the grand prize winner.

Winners can use their free tickets to view the contenders for the 1994 Oscars and prepare for the Reel Challenge II next year.

Pen pals

Students and senior letter-writers meet

By PATRICIA BROWN

They've only met two times, but to see them together one would think they were old friends.

City considers new water, sewer lines

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP News Editor

The continual patchwork repair of water and sewer lines in Westland has prompted a request from one city council member for a plan to replace the entire system.

At a council meeting last Monday night, Councilman Ken Mehl suggested that rather than continue replacing bits and pieces of the sewer system when breaks occur, city officials devise a plan that will begin the costly process of replacing the system with one that is newer and up-to-date.

"Our system is old," Mehl said. "Our system is certainly not getting any younger."

"When we have a water main break, we need to start looking at replacing pipe," he added. "We're going to have an entire budget of overtime for water-main breaks if we don't look at ways of replacing the old pipes."

Department of Public Service Director Carl Clark, whose department is responsible for water-main repairs, agreed with Mehl that the system is old. He also cautioned city officials that the cost to replace the entire system would be extreme.

Person of the Year nomination sought

The Associated Newspapers is seeking nominees for the annual Person of the Year award.

Candidates should be a resident of Belleville, Canton Township, Inkster, Romulus, Wayne or Westland and have demonstrated exemplary or special volunteer service to their community or the community as a whole.

Nominations should include a brief description of the actions which might qualify a candidate as Person of the Year and include the name, address, occupation and phone number of both the nominee and the individual submitting the name for consideration.

All nominations should be mailed to: The Associated Newspapers,

The program began late last year, when Senior Resource Department Director Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek was approached by fifth-grade Titus Elementary School teacher Caroline Washington.

The program allows the senior citizens to view the world through the eyes of a child and the children have the opportunity to see the world through the eyes of an older adult, Washington explained.

"We had lunch and we chatted," Washington said. "The kids were very excited and very well behaved. The children are learning that senior citizens are positive people in our society."

The bonds are so strong that one senior citizen asked if she could keep in touch with her pen pal until he finished college.

Another student who was having a difficulties with his handwriting, was pleased to learn that his pen pal liked his writing.

Some of the students learn about other states and countries after their pen pals return from trips.

"One of the seniors had visited Germany and she brought a book with pictures of Germany and she was sharing that with her pen pal," Washington said.

Kozorosky-Wiacek was able to provide transportation for the students, making the visit possible. She was also able to convince Westland Mayor Robert Thomas to donate the cost of mailing all of the students' letters.

"It really wouldn't be possible without Sylvia, because we don't have funding for the program," Washington said. "She genuinely cares about the children."

The students are transported from their school in the Senior Resources Department bus.

Kozorosky-Wiacek arranged for the children and senior citizens to have ice cream and Ann Neal provided piano music for their entertainment.

There are 35 students and 35 area senior citizens who are participating in the program, according to Kozorosky-Wiacek.

"The whole program builds self esteem and they are getting to know the aging network and the aging community is getting to communicate with the younger generation," Kozorosky-Wiacek said. "The seniors get to see the difference between their times and the times of today."

Neal played School Days and the senior citizens began to sing. They were soon joined by the students who promised to know all of the words by their next meeting at 11 a.m. April 28.

Kozorosky-Wiacek has invited the public to attend the next meeting.

The Westland Friendship Center is located at 119 Newburgh Road.

Center to offer sign language lessons

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP News Editor

Wayne County senior citizens will soon be offered the opportunity to learn a new method of communication.

After inviting a sign language interpreter to the Westland Friendship Center Valentine's Day party, Senior Resources Department Director Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek was approached by 17 senior citizens who told her they would like to learn sign language.

"We see that there is a need for sign language," Kozorosky-Wiacek said. "After the party we decided there wouldn't be a need for interpreters unless people understood sign language."

Now the opportunity to learn will be available.

Seven years ago, seniors at the center were offered a similar program. For some reason, the need didn't continue to exist, according to Kozorosky-Wiacek.

The new class will be taught by an interpreter from the Deaf, Hearing and Speech Center.

"The new class will be open to all senior citizens in Wayne County," she said. "I'm really excited. I believe there is a need for this class and we're just trying to stay ahead with the needs of our elderly in the community."

Most of the funding for the program will come from the Senior Alliance, she added.

The classes will be offered once a week for 10 weeks, Kozorosky-Wiacek said. Approximately 17 to 20 students will be in each class.

Already a student from a Wayne-Westland junior high school has asked to take the class.

"I'm going to open it up to anyone who is interested," Kozorosky-Wiacek said.

For more information about the program call 722-7628.

Legislators set agenda

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Action on two of the most pressing items on the legislative agenda this year, school tax and auto insurance reform, are expected to pick up steam this coming week.

Twenty second District State Representative Greg Pitoniak (D-Taylor), who also represents Romulus, and 13 other members of the bi-partisan school tax reform and property tax cut initiative visited six cities on Friday to explain their tax plan proposal at press conferences throughout the state.

Pitoniak was among those who spoke at Wayne State University Friday, while others fanned out to talk in Grand Rapids, Flint, Kalamazoo, Muskegon and Saginaw.

The bi-partisan legislative will seek to eliminate property taxes as a major source of funding for the schools and provide a net tax cut of $300 million.

Pitoniak, who also serves on the House insurance committee, said the committee members debated Battle Creek Rep. Bill Martin's car insurance proposal last week and 25 of the 30 amendments offered were accepted.

"It is expected that the insurance committee will put together a basic car insurance reform bill next Tuesday and it could be voted out of committee later in the week," Pitoniak explained.

As the present bill stands, Pitoniak said, each person would be covered up to a $1 million level for medical costs, with car owners being permitted to purchase higher coverage rates. Currently there are no caps on medical costs with current insurance policies.

Most of the amendments approved for the bill have been basically technical changes, Pitoniak said.

Coin calls may cost nickel more

Instead of dropping two dimes into a pay phone, Michigan Bell would like its customers to deposit a quarter into the coin boxes for each phone call.

The telephone company is asking state regulators to raise the price of a local coin telephone call by one nickel.

The current 20-cent charge was set in 1976. Prior to that time, coin calls were 5 cents through 1952 and 10 cents per call for the next 24 years.

In a companion request to the Michigan Public Service Commission, Michigan Bell has proposed new directory assistance charges which would be phased-in during a 12-month period.

Sweet revenge

Belleville cagers leave their mark on Wayne

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Belleville got its long-awaited last shot at nemesis Wayne Memorial Friday night.

And Coach Michael Garland and his Tigers didn't waste their opportunity - they left an indelible mark on the defending Wolverine "A" Conference champs.

Before a full-house, Belleville beat Wayne 75-67 in a shootout that shattered Wayne's 25-game conference winning streak and juggled the top of the conference standings. The Belleville victory forced a reluctant Wayne to hand over a share of first-place in a conference that will become history at the end of the current school year.

The two teams however will be reunited in a Mega-Conference which is slated to begin action in the fall.

Although Belleville should not have problems with its final two league rivals - Southgate Anderson and Monroe - Wayne still has to contend with a respectable Fordson and a so-so Anderson team in the final two weeks.

If the two arch-rivals win their final games, the league will wind up with co-champs in its final year of existence.

"This was our final meeting in the league with them," said Wayne coach Chuck Henry, "and, obviously, when you have that kind of situation you would like to win. We made some mistakes in the second half and they capitalized on them."

"However, there may be a third match-up between our teams this year. They are also going to be at the Garden City district."

Clutch free-throw shooting in the stretch and a superlative performance from Belleville guard Michael Foley eventually brought Wayne down. Foley was fantastic at the free throw line where he cashed in on nine of 10 of them, many in "must" situations.

Foley finished with a game-high 23 points and his eight in the third period staked the Tigers to a 21-11 advantage in that turnaround quarter. Up to then, it looked like Wayne was well on its way to another victory and championship.

The Zebras, playing before a partisan crowd on the home turf, moved to a 19-17 first-period lead on the strength of a balanced assault that was led by Antonio Dodd, Rod Hardison and Courtney Howard.

Wayne managed to keep the Tigers caged in the next eight minutes of their rematch, coming off the floor at intermission with a 31-28 lead.

But then Foley, joined by Ralph Truitt, went to work. Before the two playmakers got through with the Zebras, Belleville had erased the deficit and taken a seven-point (49-42) lead.

Though Wayne closed within two, 65-63, with less than 1:30 minutes left in the game, the champs never got the equalizer.

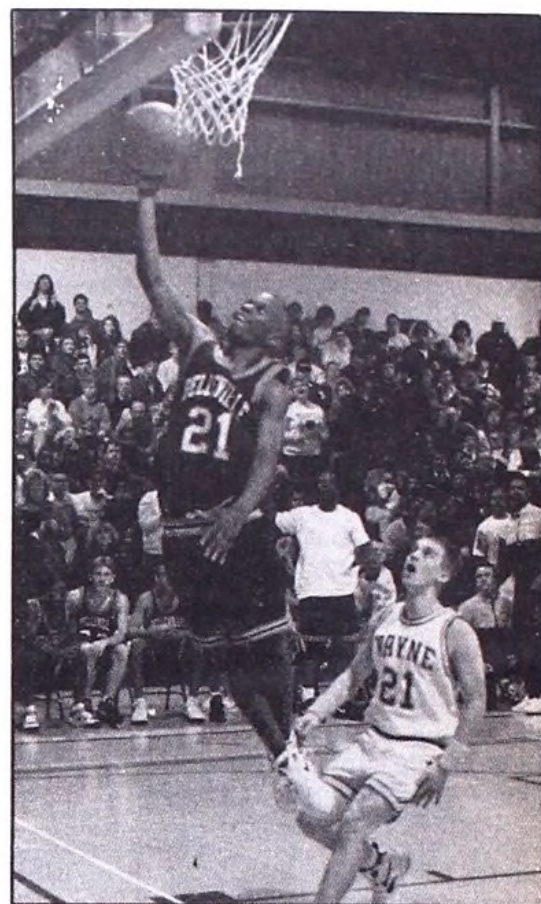

Foley finished the game with 23 points while Truitt added 14 for the Tigers who connected on an incredible 15 of 18 at the free throw line.

Dodd finished with a team-high 12 points, while Hardison and Howard split 20 points evenly between them.

After clashing with natural rival Westland John Glenn Tuesday night for bragging rights in the school district, Wayne awaits Fordson, which is due in town Friday night.

"The Fordson game is important because we obviously can't afford another loss if we want to retain a share of the title," said Henry. "And Fordson has the capability of beating anyone in this league."

In the meantime, Belleville also is at home Friday night. They will host Anderson.

'March Madness' is here

"March Madness" is but a flip of a calendar's page away.

Those two words translate into an action-packed, do-or-die tournament format of high school basketball that leaves the losers on the sidelines.

It also means the end of the regular high school basketball season is coming to an end - and the "second season" begins with the district playoffs.

When the madness ends, there will be only four teams which can boast that they are state champions.

And it will all begin in the second week in March. District competition is scheduled to begin on March 8 and end March 13.

Although the times and dates of the district playoffs have not been announced, the Michigan High School Athletic Association, the august body that regulates high school sports in Michigan, has revealed where the teams will begin their quest.

Local Class A teams are in two districts: Garden City and Plymouth-Canton.

Traditional rivals Wayne Memorial and Belleville, who presently share first place in the Wolverine "A" Conference, will be heading for Garden City where they will be joined by Livonia Franklin, Westland John Glenn and Garden City.

In the meantime, natural rivals Canton and Salem are pitted in the same district at Canton. Salem managed to pull out an overtime win over Canton last week and the two teams are considered the favorites in that district.

Also seeking the district title at Canton will be Livonia Churchill, Livonia Stevenson, Northville and Novi.

Super-soph returns

What a difference a player makes

When it comes to basketball one player does make a difference.

Ask Inkster coach Spencer Grant.

Without 6-6, 220-pound super sophomore Alvin White in the lineup, the Vikings were easy prey for their enemies.

With him, Inkster is competitive.

Last week White came off the ineligible list and into the starting lineup. His presence helped Inkster rout River Rouge 81-57, only a couple of days after he sparked the Vikings to a 72-67 victory over Willow Run.

In one week, Inkster has equaled the number of games they have won all season in the Suburban Athletic Conference. They are now 4-7 in the SAC and 6-11 overall, after losing Friday to title-favorite Highland Park 81-56.

And in the Highland Park game, White rang up a season high 23 points and 18 rebounds. But he got 22 of those points in the first half.

"We're now competitive," said Grant, whose club has been struggling all year long. "If our guards would only settle down, we'd be all right. We now have the people who can get the job done."

Inkster just couldn't match the balanced scoring power of a Highland Park team that put four of its starters in double figures. Rodney Newsome did most of the damage to the Viking defense. He scored 24 while teammate Vincent Madison added 17. Terrance Reed and William Norman contributed 14 and 12 points.

Against Rouge, White scored eight of his 23 points in the second period and teammates Maurice Ballard and James Outlaw added six each.

Their contributions broke open a close game, and the Vikings bolted for a 21-all first-period know to a 43-33 lead at intermission.

Inkster managed to outscore their SAC rivals 17-14 and 19-10 in the finals two periods.

Ballard finished with a game-high 26 points and White was close behind with 23. Outlaw chipped in 10.

White had 17 rebounds to go along with his 20 points and Outlaw had 15 points and 13 boards.

Glenn plummets, loses 4 straight

If you happen to know why the Westland John Glenn Rockets, who only 10 days ago were in the thick of the Western Lakes Conference title race, have suddenly collapsed, coach Mike Schuette may want to hear from you.

The first-year Glenn cage coach is seeking an explanation for the sudden demise of his team.

The Rockets were blown to bits and pieces by undefeated Walled Lake Central Friday night, after losing two consecutive conference games. The Glenn losing streak has reached three.

That streak would have been no cause for concern earlier in the season, however, with the conference championships ahead and the Class A playoffs on the horizon - yes, there is concern at this point of the season.

"I feel we have lost our confidence," Schuette said. "We have to get it back."

Central exploded to a 36-point third period as the too-hot-to-defend Chris Emert rattled the nets for five three-points and collected 17 of his game high 29 points in that crucial period.

"They came out in the second half with a barrage of three-pointers," Schuette said. "That was the story of the game."

A sad tale, indeed.

The Rockets managed to stay with their hosts for the first eight minutes, however, Central broke a 13-all tie and jumped to a 31-20 lead at halftime. Then the Vikings put on a dazzling display of long range artillery that rocked the gym.

In the starring role, Emert put up five treys that were on target. He also sank a pair of free throws, staking to Vikings to a 36-12 third period. It was no contest after that. Central carried a 67-32 advantage into the final quarter.

The loss left the Rockets with a 11-5 overall and a 7-4 conference record.

Glenn got 15 points from Tony Goins, who had an excellent week. Teammate Kevin Claypool added 12.

The Westlanders wasted outstanding performances from Goins and Ken Taylor in a surprising (it wasn't supposed to be) 72-65 upset at the hands of Northville last Tuesday.

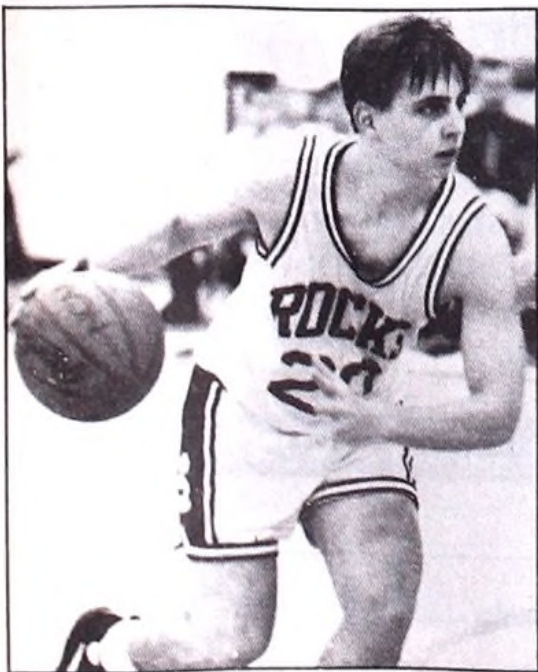

The Mustangs came back from an 18-16 first-period deficit and outscored the Rockets 24-10. Glenn made a run at Northville's 40-28 halftime lead early in the third period as Taylor, Goins and John Miller found the range but the Rockets could not sustain the rally. They came within seven points, 58-51, of tying the game, but never mustered enough scoring power, although they came within four in the last period.

Glenn apparently brings the best out of its opposition, according to Schuette.

"After each of our recent losses, the opposing coaches have come up to me and said that it's the best play they have gotten out of their teams all year."

Miller led the Rockets with 18 points, while Taylor tossed in 17 and Goins counted 12.

Glenn was to host natural rival Wayne Memorial, always coming off of a loss to arch-foe Belleville, Tuesday night before competing in the eight-team conference championship scheduled to begin Friday night.

Seeded No. 2

Rocks crush Stevenson on way to league playoffs

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Outscoring their rivals 25-4 in the first period, Plymouth-Salem crushed Livonia Stevenson 70-39 Friday night in the final basketball game of the regular conference season.

Coach Bob Brodie's cagers will carry an overall 15-2 record into the Western Lakes Conference playoffs this week. The one-loss elimination play-off format is scheduled to begin on Friday.

Seeded No. 2 behind state-ranked and undefeated Walled Lake Central, the Rocks earned their high seed with a 5-1 division and a 9-2 conference record.

"It's going to be a tough series," predicted Brodie, of the winner-take-all playoffs. "If you lose one game, you're out."

Salem drew North Farmington in the first round.

The Rocks looked awesome against Stevenson's Spartans. With Mike Slone's four from three point range baskets and collecting 14 of his game-high 23 points in the first period, Salem took a commanding 25-4 lead over the once-mighty Spartans.

Salem never looked back until they had secured No. 15 win.

With Brodie shuffling his players into the game faster than a gambler dealing a deck of cards, Salem went on to outscore their rivals 16-8 and 8-7 in the middle periods.

Mike and twin brother, Brandon, who have been the impetus of the Rocks scoring power, combined for 42 of the team's 70 points. Brandon had 19 points.

It was a different story, however, last Tuesday night against natural rival, Plymouth-Canton. Canton, without the services of their veteran coach, Dave VanWagoner who is out of the lineup because of illness, took the Rocks into an extra period before losing a 67-61 pride-of-Plymouth game.

It was Brandon's turn to save one for the Rocks; his brother, Mike, did it a week earlier when he drilled an at-the-buzzer three-pointer that jolted Westland John Glenn, 61-60, and helped with the Rockets' demise.

This time Brandon let loose a three-pointer at the buzzer that found its mark and tied the game at 56. Then, the Rocks went on to outscore their rivals 11-5 in the overtime as James Head, Brandon Jensen and Mike Slone each accounted for two-pointers.

Canton, with Brad Paskevitch and Owen Crosby leading the way, took an early 12-8 lead and held on until intermission 22-16.

Salem, handcuffed with turnovers - some 18 of them for the game - managed to stay alive thanks to a balanced scoring assault.

Head finished up the evening with a team high of 17 points. He also had 10 rebounds. Brandon had 16 and brother Mike added 14.

Paskevitch walked off the floor with a game-high 22 points and Crosby counted 16. Bryan Whitte also was in double figures with 12 for the Chiefs who made 11 of 16 charities as compared to Salem's 24 of 37.

Inkster qualifies 2 for regionals

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Although they were shut out from gold medals, Inkster grapplers managed to pick up a silver and a bronze medal at the Class B district wrestling tournament staged Saturday.

Heavyweight Fred Davis came within one victory of a gold. However, the rugged Viking senior lost a close - and controversial - 2-1 decision to Melvindale wrestler Ben Wilhelm in the finals.

"It was a close match," noted Inkster coach Sam Ellis. "And the points that Davis' opponent were awarded were questionable."

Davis and teammate Anthony Melchor, a 103-pound freshman, who finished third in his weight class, were the only Viking qualifiers for the regional tournament. The regionals will be conducted on Saturday at Tecumseh.

Davis began his bid for a district title with an easy 24 second victory over Ed Carter of Highland Park. He then turned back Harper Woods' Rob Haulet in 32 seconds.

In the semifinals Davis met and defeated Dearborn Divine Child grappler, Kris Cridereser, 7-2.

Melchor marched into the quarterfinals with a first-round bye. He stepped on the mats for his first real test in the second-round where he was greeted by Roger Bowman of New Boston Huron. Melchor won a decisive 10-0 decision over his opponent.

Melchor's dream of a district gold was shattered by Melvindale grappler Ron Kish, who disposed of the Inkster wrestler, 9-2. In the consolation round, Melchor defeated Crestwood wrestler Brandon Aldred, 4-0, for the bronze.

In team competition, Inkster lost in the first round to Dearborn Heights Crestwood, 39-36. The Chargers met Riverview in the finals and fell to the wayside.

Riverview will represent the Class B district at the regional and was slated to wrestle the last night against Melvindale.

The United States is the world's leading leather producer.

From cellar to top North grapplers turn record around

Only a few teams have risen from the cellar of their conferences to the top. As coaches will tell you - it takes time to climb.

Like three years for the Dallas Cowboys, who finished 1-15 in 1990, but in January of 1993 captured the NFL prestigious Super Bowl.

Then there is North Middle School in the Van Buren School District.

The team also included wrestlers Jason

Grandmason, Darren Housewright, Matt Johnson, Chris Kinsman, Edward Kuehn, Jonathon Lindsey, Michael Martinez, Mike Medulla and Morgan Mullins.

Managers included Andrew Bennett, Joey Curaba, Sara Feathergill, Chris Grider, Damar Kropp, Heather McLaughlin, Luke Ridner and Rouleau.

Assistant coaches are Ron Allen, George Buhro and Mark Pellecchia.

'Reel' CHALLENGE

Film fans can use their powers of deduction to predict the 1993 Oscar winners, and receive prizes for their predictions.

We won't challenge our readers to guess such obscure choices such as who will win for the best documentary short subject or best film editing, but we will ask readers to submit their predictions for the best film, best actor, best actress, best supporting actor and best supporting actress. In the event of ties, entrants may include their predictions of the best visual effects and best makeup to be used as tie-breakers.

The winners of the 65th annual Academy Awards will be announced on March 29.

The top Reel Challenge winner will receive six passes for two to attend the Canton or Novi Cinema theaters. The four runners-up will each receive two passes for two to the same theaters.

Entries should be sent to Associated Newspapers, Inc., P.O. Box 578, Wayne, Mich. 48184, by 5 p.m. March 26. Entries received after that time will not be considered in the contest.

Oldtimers match Local auto dealer scores big charity

By CRAIG GARRETT
ANP Staff Writer

Nix the unpleasant auto salesmen jokes and meet Vince Law.

Tomorrow night Law, co-owner of the Wayne auto dealership founded by his father 55 years ago, brings together former ice stars of the Detroit Red Wings and some aging, but never over-the-hill, amateur athletes for a benefit hockey game.

The Red Wing Oldtimers versus the Law Auto Sales Senior Hockey Team match up is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Redford Ice Arena, 12400 Beech-Daly Road. Proceeds from ticket sales and auctioned sports items will benefit the Michigan chapter of the Make-A-Wish Foundation, a national charity sponsoring once-in-a-lifetime experiences for terminally ill children. This year is the fifth for the charity game.

- Vince Law

“Through the years,” Law said, “games have been close and hotly contested. We really have a ball. And, of course, the bottom line is the kids. You couldn't find a better charity.”

Joining the event this season, Law said, is three-time Stanley Cup champion and Hall-of-Fame star Alex Delvecchio; Larry Johnston, a seven-year professional; Dennis Hextall, a 12-year Red Wing and Minnesota pro; former pro Ken Houston; former U of M standout and three-time Stanley Cup champion Pat Hughes; member of four Stanley Cup teams Joe Klukay; also Tom Laidlaw, Nick Libett, Jimmy Peters, Robert Picard, Gary Morrison, John Wilson, John Ferguson, Bill Evo, Eddie Mio, Kris Manery, Mike Marttila and Tom Shaw.

Between periods, Law said, autographed Red Wing equipment, plus trips and lithographs, will be auctioned to benefit the children. Law hopes to collect $3,500.

“It's definitely a good feeling to see the dreams of these kids come true,” he said. “The fact that the old timer Red Wings come out for a charity shows what kind of guys they are—the very best.”

Lithographs, autographed hockey equipment, auctions and special trips are part of the Red Wing Oldtimers vs. Law Auto Sales Senior Hockey Team game tomorrow night in Redford. Wayne auto dealer Vince Law, above, sponsor of the charity event for the last five years, displays a few of the items available. Proceeds will benefit the Make-A-Wish Foundation of Michigan. Call 937-2727 or 722-5200 for details.

Batten appoints new sales-marketing director

William J. Pekar has been appointed to the position of director of North American sales and marketing for the Batten Corp. of Romulus.

Pekar assumes responsibility for developing awareness of the technological expertise and capabilities of Batten Corp., and will work closely with the five divisions of the company and its marketing representatives.

Batten Corp., founded in 1972 by engineer Cyril J. Batten, is managed as five divisions: design, engineering, prototype, manufacturing and high performance. The firm has designed and built a number of world, international and national record-holding racing engines in addition to its volume production work for the automotive “Big Three” and leading diesel and marine engine manufacturers.

“What I saw in Bill was a combination of energy, intelligence, experience and a practical approach to problem solving and to life,” said company president Cyril J. Batten. “Engineers are, by nature, serious individuals, involved in high-technology materials, research, design and testing. Bill will balance that.”

Batten noted that the firm has expanded rapidly, broadening its product line and research and development capabilities. He believes the new sales and marketing director will be the essential bridge to the customer and to the sales force and to help define an expedient path to product delivery.

“Based on the growth and reputation of Batten Corp. since 1972, you can conclude that there's an extraordinary person at the helm. Cyril Batten is a visionary,” said Pekar.

Seat belts make statement

What's new in fashion wear this year? Belts! That's right, belts.

The snappy silver buckled belts come in many colors, however the most popular seem to be black, gray, red, brown and blue.

The best thing about these belts is that you don't have to run to the store to buy one. They come already installed with your car or truck.

The new fashion wear is seat belts, and everyone is wearing them. This reflects how intelligent and responsible we as a community are.

If you're one of the loyal bucklers, pat yourself on the back. If you aren't a regular belt user, get with it. Think about it— isn't it nice to get into your vehicle and know that you can more than double your protection against the nation's No. 1 killer of those under 34, just by wearing your seat belt. Think of it as a personal hug from your car.

Buckle up. Your car is probably not the only one that likes to hug you.

Quote of the Week

"You can't solve today's problems with yesterday's answers."

Belleville City Manager Jeff Przygocki, commenting on the need to develop a vision for the future of the city.

Of Note

Workman seriously burned in Canton

A 32-year-old Fowlerville electrician Tuesday was burned severely apparently working on a high-voltage ceiling outlet at a Canton Township business.

Township fire officials at 2:30 p.m. received back-to-back telephone reports concerning an explosion and a "man down" at the Greenfield Die and Machine shop, 8301 Ronda. Police and fire rescue discovered Terrance Badarak inside the building, still conscious, with second- and third-degree burns covering most of his upper chest, face and hands.

A MedFlight Augusta helicopter from Catherine McCauley Health Center in Ypsilanti was radioed to the site. Flight personnel administered medication, stabilized the victim and transported him in under 10 minutes to the University of Michigan Trauma Burn Center where he was listed Wednesday in fair condition. The victim's brother on Thursday said Badarak had already received several skin grafts and appeared to be doing well.

Fire Chief Michael Rorabacher said investigators were still looking into the incident, but it initially appeared Badarak was "trouble-shooting" a high-voltage ceiling fixture and was flash burned by a circuit arc.

"Luckily he wasn't killed," Rorabacher added.

Wayne man to face sexual assault trial

A Wayne man suspected of sexually assaulting a 15-year-old girl will stand trial, a district judge ordered Friday.

Michael Raymond Gdowski, a 32-year-old youth group counselor at St. Mary's Church of Wayne, waived a preliminary examination before 35th District Judge John MacDonald in connection with a Jan. 31 incident in Canton Township.

Police said Gdowski and the alleged victim, also a Wayne resident, were to meet at the Michigan Avenue church late Jan. 31, but met instead just west of the parish at a movie theater. The couple apparently traveled to a Wayne liquor store where Gdowski purchased beer, then drove to a Canton motel. Police said the pair rented a room and watched television. Both Gdowski and the alleged victim, police said, removed their clothes. Gdowski attempted to have sex with the teenager without using force, but did not penetrate her.

The two returned to St. Mary's early the following morning where they were met by the victim's parents.

Gdowski was arraigned in 35th District Court Feb. 17 on a third-degree criminal sexual conduct charge and released on a $10,000/10 percent cash bond. No trial date has been set.

Voters to decide on millage request

Romulus voters will be called upon to cast their ballots for or against the local firefighter millage request on Tuesday.

Local firemen are asking the City Council to amend the city charter to add two mills to the tax rolls strictly for Fire Department purposes. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Westland man arrested in 'gang raid'

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP News Editor

The fate of a Westland man arrested in connection with several gang raids last weekend was unknown Friday morning.

Tim Goin of Westland was one of several suspects arrested during the weekend in connection with gang activities in southwest Detroit, Westland police confirmed last week.

Westland police assisted federal Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (ATF) officers in the raid that occurred last Saturday morning on Pawnee Street located near Wildwood and Hunter roads.

Officials from the ATF confirmed Thursday that all information concerning the suspects was being processed by the United States Attorney's Office.

Officials from the U.S. Attorney's office could not be reached as of Friday morning.

The raids included the arrests of 20 alleged leaders of gangs including several other arrests in Dearborn and Dearborn Heights in addition to Goin in Westland.

Officials reported seizing more than 100 weapons and at least 50 pounds of marijuana.

Neighbors living near Goin on Pawnee Street

"They found at least $20,000 in cash, an unknown amount of drugs, several guns and they did get the boat."

- John Reddy

Westland Deputy Police Chief

reported seeing officials tow a large boat from his driveway.

Westland Deputy Police Chief John Reddy confirmed that the boat had been seized, but he was unable to confirm reports that the boat may have been stolen from the boat show last month.

A customized truck which was seized by officials allegedly belonged to Goin and is believed to have been stolen from Autorama, officials said. The truck is valued at $50,000, according to reports.

"We assisted the ATF agents in the initial raid," Reddy said. "When they first entered the home, they found that no one was home. I guess they waited until he came home."

"They found at least $20,000 in cash, an unknown amount of drugs, several guns and they did get the boat," Reddy added.

Westland police were unable to say whether Goin lived in the home alone and whether he owned the home.

Goin is believed to be the leader of a gang known as Ex-Men, police said.

Other gang bosses arrested included: Manny Rossario of Cash Money Brothers, Michael Hodgson of Young Guns, Robert Widner of Underground Syndicate, Hector Nazario of the Cobras, Marty Rodriguez of Camel Boys Inc. and Pablo Bonilla of the Easy Does It Posse.

Officials blame the gangs for the deterioration of Southwest Detroit neighborhoods. Although the arrests are an improvement, they are only the tip of the iceberg, according to police, who said gangs continue to rule that area.

Drive-by shootings are common in Southwest Detroit and gangs begin recruiting children as young as 10 years old, officials said.

Officials encourage anyone with information relating to gang activities to call the United States Bureau of Alcohol and Firearms at 1-800-ATF-GUNS. They can also call the Council Against Gang-Related Violence at 842-3450.

Man's best friend Local man depends on dog

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

A dog may be a man's best friend, but for John Hipp, his leader dog "Dumars" is also a necessity.

Dumars is named after Joe Dumars because of his feistiness and go-getter attitude, Hipp explained. Dumars recently moved into Hipp's Wayne home after the two graduated from the Leader Dog for the Blind school in Rochester.

Hipp and his best friend whom he believes is like "a son" have built a bond of trust, according to Hipp.

"This is the second time I had a leader dog," Hipp said. "The first time I had one for only five days because I had to go into surgery."

Hipp, who will be 56 in March, lived with Dumars for one month at the training school. The two had to learn about establishing a routine where they would get up at a certain time, go for a walk to a park where Dumars' skills would be practiced and then go through the various hand signals and commands for Dumars to follow.

"He's really a great dog," Hipp said. "At the school they put you in a room. They have a bed there, and the dog is tied down next to the bed."

"We woke up about 6 every morning, and the first thing we did was go to the park."

Hipp and Dumars were then transported to communities that were unknown to Dumars so Hipp could practice various leader dog techniques on the job.

"This dog is really unbelievable," Hipp said. "He knows when you have to stop playing and get to work."

"When I get the harness, he knows that it's time to go to work."

Hipp has been blind since 1962 due to glaucoma. He said he is not completely blind because he has a "peep hole" vision in his right eye.

"I don't have any more glaucoma since I had surgery in 1991," Hipp said. "I know I'm going to go blind completely because I'm losing my sight quickly."

Hipp said he remembers one day he got soap in his eyes and closed them. When he opened his eyes, he no longer had vision in his left eye, he said.

Hipp has lived in Wayne for four years. In his youth he worked at a body shop repairing vehicles. He also transported dirt in a dump truck he purchased, he recalled.

His last job before he retired involved working at Meijer in the shoe repair department.

County may provide public health care

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Will Wayne County become the first in the nation to offer basic medical coverage to all residents?

An upbeat Wayne County Executive Edward H. McNamara offered that challenge Wednesday night, as he introduced his health care plan to the public.

McNamara said, "By working with employers and (health care) providers, we believe we can make Wayne County the first major urban area in the U.S. to offer health care to all its residents."

When enacted, McNamara said, the benefits to the residents will be obvious...offering, "the assurance that your family can stay healthy. 'It is an outrage that working families often go without health care.

The emotional and economic costs of letting a child's fever go unattended, because parents cannot afford a doctor visit, or for senior citizens to risk strokes because they cannot afford blood pressure medication, are indefensible," McNamara stressed.

"For employers, the costs of paying for health care for the uninsured is already reflected in insurance premiums. What managed care offers is the opportunity to make care preventive and much less expensive in many cases," he said.

The county chief executive also said that while one of the strengths of the country is the road system, many of the "roads in this state remain in terrible shape."

McNamara supports the need to "invest more in our roads," financing them if necessary through an increase in gas taxes."

While the Wayne County road network is still

Canton man to face molestation charges

By CRAIG GARRETT
ANP Staff Writer

An alleged Canton Township child molester looking at 15 years behind bars faces mental health testing before further court proceedings begin, 35th District Judge John MacDonald ruled Friday.

Ronald Creech, a 29-year-old Canton Township man, is being charged with two counts of first-degree criminal sexual conduct for allegedly molesting two related children, ages 4 and 5 when the alleged assaults began in 1987. Creech is being held on a $100,000 cash bond during forensic testing in Ypsilanti.

Township police said Creech, unemployed at the time, had been living with relatives in Canton from 1987 through July of last year. During his five-year stay at the home, police said, Creech repeatedly assaulted two young children. The incidents came to light after the youngsters, now ages 10 and 11, watched a television program highlighting child molestation and informed their parents of Creech's alleged activities.

Canton Detective William Keppen on Friday said Creech had left the state recently for Winterhaven, California where he was located and arrested by local authorities during Christmas. Creech, Keppen said, attempted to fight extradition and was returned Feb. 18 to face the sexual assault charges.

Creech's attorney, Joseph Dillon, informed MacDonald he plans to plead an insanity defense when trial proceedings resume.

Freak storm crashes computers

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Communications were disrupted in the Belleville City Hall last week after a freak thunderstorm stuck a tower. Phones, radio and computers were out of service in the Belleville Police Department last Monday, resulting in Emergency 911 calls being re-routed through the Van Buren Public Safety Department.

“Fortunately, we didn’t lose any records.”

- Fran Soja
bookkeeper

Although critical police services were back on line by Tuesday, several computers in city hall were still out of service on Friday.

“Fortunately, we didn’t lose any records,” said bookkeeper Fran Soja, as she displayed several computer circuits that had been put out of service. “The company that installed our system did a good job. Nothing that was on our computers was lost.”

Tina Wyatt, secretary to City Manager Jeff Przygocki, had the only fully operational computer in the building on Thursday.

“I can access the files from other employees’ computers, but I can’t transfer them back to their computers,” Wyatt said. “I’ve been able to run some things off on my printer for other departments.”

Przygocki said the damaged caused to the computers is covered by insurance, but there will some cost to the city.

“There’s a deductible that we’ll have to pay, but we’re expecting to be back in business - fully - in a short time,” the city manager said.

FRIEND

“I plan on learning braille so I can work at AT & T in the near future,” Hipp said.

Hipp said he pretty much knows where shops and businesses are located in Wayne. He enjoys taking Dumars for a walk.

“When I am crossing a street I tell Dumars to find a curb,” Hipp said. “Then, I listen for what’s around me. Once the street is cleared, I tell Dumars to ‘go forward.’”

The longest walk Dumars and Hipp have taken was to Inkster Road and Michigan Avenue, and it took the pair 35 minutes. Hipp said he would like to thank veterinarian Dr. William Nichols for taking care of his best friend.

“Dumars and I take care of each other,” Hipp said. “He’s a very protective dog.”

Dumars trained at the Leader Dogs for the Blind for four months prior to being assigned to Hipp.

Founded in 1939 by three businessmen who were members of the Detroit Uptown Lions Club, Leader Dogs for the Blind is the largest dog guide training school in the U.S. Its principal benefactors are Lions and Lioness Clubs throughout the U.S., Canada and Spain.

This dedication to community service makes it possible for a blind person to attend without charge even though it costs about $9,500 to train a student and dog.

Hipp has two daughters and a son who live out of the western Wayne County area. He said he plans to visit them soon so they might meet the newest member of the family.

HEALTH

the most complete in the state, this summer will see the most extensive road repair effort in many years, McNamara said. Sixty miles of roads in 42 of the 43 communities in Wayne County will be improved this summer, he vowed.

“This summer, when you are slowed down by construction efforts, don’t think of yourself as being stuck in a traffic jam...think of yourself being transportationally challenged,” McNamara remarked.

The third major challenge McNamara espoused Wednesday was a plan to take over the area’s welfare system, stating “I’ll be asking Gov. John Engler and the State Legislature to allow us the freedom to experiment.”

Citing poverty as one of the leading destabilizing influences in Wayne County, McNamara said the county hopes to try a new approach, which would make welfare recipients go to school, if they wish to collect continued payments.

Current welfare plans have proved to be a failure for both families and society, he said.

If the above three efforts can be successfully implemented this year, McNamara said, making “a World-Class Wayne County” will be the standard instead of just a dream.

Winter blues

Dreary days trigger melancholy moods

Blossoms bring spring

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP News Editor

It's tulip time. Well not yet, but almost. Typically most people living in Michigan associate tulips with the Holland Tulip Festival staged annually in May. Since there are three months until then, and having suffered through more than two months of winter, many people are already looking for signs of spring.

Those suffering from the winter blues can visit area florists to experience a little spring.

Flowers are especially popular this time of year, according to Pam Prough, the assistant manager of My Lady's Florist in Westland.

"It's so dark and dreary outside that people come to the florist to purchase fresh cut flowers that they take home and put in a vase and it makes things a little brighter," Prough said. "Daisies are big this time of year. I think it's because they are yellow and white and when people think of yellow they think of sunshine."

Other popular flowers include: roses, iatris, iris, carnations, tulips, wax flowers and alstroemeria.

"People seem to purchase more blooming plants this time of year," Prough added. "Another popular purchase is a planter with fresh cut flowers. Once the spring flowers die, they still have the planter to hold them over in the winter."

The pastel flowers are usually popular in the winter, because they are a reminder of spring.

"Right now, people want pinks, purples, violets--basically all of the Easter colors," Prough added.

For years, flowers have been given as gifts meant to cheer someone up.

"I think flowers brighten everybody's day," Prough said.

Pam Prough, assistant manager of My Lady's Florist in Westland, believes flowers can brighten a dreary winter day. To escape the winter blues, Prough suggests purchasing a bouquet of colorful flowers to keep at home until spring arrives. She also stated that this time of year is extremely popular for fresh flower sales. ANP photo by Ken Garner

If you need to get away from home during the dark days of winter, but your budget is showing red...why not try a weekend overnight stay at either the Romulus Marriott or the Detroit Airport Marriott?

Your overnight hotel venture is limited only by your imagination, a hotel spokesperson said.

For the budget minded, the Romulus Marriott offers a relaxing "2 for Breakfast" package costing only $59.

The overnight plan includes a room featuring a king-size or two double beds, smoking or non-smoking accommodations, a full-service breakfast the following morning and use of the indoor pool, workout area and jacuzzi.

For the romantic couple wishing a break from the rush-and-tumble weeklong work schedule, the Detroit Airport Marriott offers a "Honeymoon package" for newlyweds, or those wishing to mark a special "second honeymoon" time of their life.

Snow, ice, cold dampen spirits

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

With temperatures hovering in the teens and 14 inches of snow falling in an 11-day period, it's no wonder that many individuals are infected with the winter blues.

"February has been a difficult month," said Roger Dallwig, therapist and owner of His Place/Her Place Counseling Center. "When it's cold and snowing, people tend to stay indoors and lead a sedentary life. There's also been a lack of sunlight, which triggers Seasonal Affect Disorder (SAD). All of these factors contribute to our negative feelings, or the so-called winter blues."

Dallwig recommends that individuals remain active during the winter by exercising and taking part in outdoor activities.

"Whenever the sun is shining be sure to go outdoors and take advantage of it," Dallwig said. "It has been recommended that people affected by SAD should program bright lights to go on before they wake up. By doing this, it is said to simulate the longer hours of sunlight that occur in the spring and summer."

The therapist suggests that planning special activities, things to do and places to go will help to alleviate the winter blues.

"Single people can schedule an evening at the theater or the movies. They should make definite plans for whatever activity they choose so that there will be something to look forward to," Dallwig said. "For couples, there are opportunities to enjoy a special weekend package at many of the local motels. They can enjoy the pool and sauna and utilize the time for recreation and re-creation. Rates are usually cheaper on the weekends, so the getaway won't be too expensive."

Other ideas for banishing the winter blues are:

- Treat yourself to something special - a small luxury you have wanted, but have neglected to obtain for yourself.

- Buy a potted spring plant or bouquet of flowers for your home or office, or display a bright, cheerful poster or painting to produce a spring-like effect.
  - Reach out to make new friends or revive your relationship with old friends by long distance phone call or by letter.
  - Set a time and date to visit friends, invite company to your home, stage an open house or attend special events.
  - Visit a place that gives you a feeling of spring - a flower exhibit, spring fashion show or travel program.
- Dallwig cautions that the

Cruises sail to summer

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

Surviving the winter blues can be a difficult task. Sometimes the best therapy is to get out of the environment which is causing the "mean reds" as Audrey Hepburn described in Breakfast at Tiffany's.

Bridget Kelly, agent at Sun Coast Travel in Wayne, has just the right anecdotes for someone who enjoys basking in the sun on a romantic cruise ship or building sand castles on a white beach in Cancun.

"Right now we have seven-day cruise specials and the three-and-four-day cruise specials," Kelly said. "Depending on the kind of ship selected, prices begin around $449 per person for the three-and-four-day cruises. This would include the air, ship cabin and all meals."

The three-and-four-day cruises are strictly for the Bahamas where the ship will dock in Nassau and Freeport, according to Kelly.

"The seven-day cruises go to the south, eastern and western Caribbean," Kelly said. "Cost for this package begins about $1,200. This also depends on the ship and itinerary you select."

Traveling in February and March is considered high season for cruising, so you might want to consider a land package instead.

"When it's off season for cruising for instance in the summer time, that's when you get the best deals," Kelly said. "Sometimes when a ship isn't as full, you can find discounts available."

Hot spots for travelers right now are Mexico, Europe and Cancun, according to Kelly.

"I just sent a man to Paris, France for a couple of days, and I managed to arrange a package deal for $500 which included his air and hotel," Kelly said. "There are very good deals out there. You just have to watch the newspapers and call your travel agents."

Packages to Cancun begin at $500 and include the hotel and air. Las Vegas is also another popular home away from home.

"Depending on the hotel you choose and when you fly, taking a mini vacation doesn't have to be expensive," Kelly said. "Orlando, Fla. is still very popular for a family vacation."

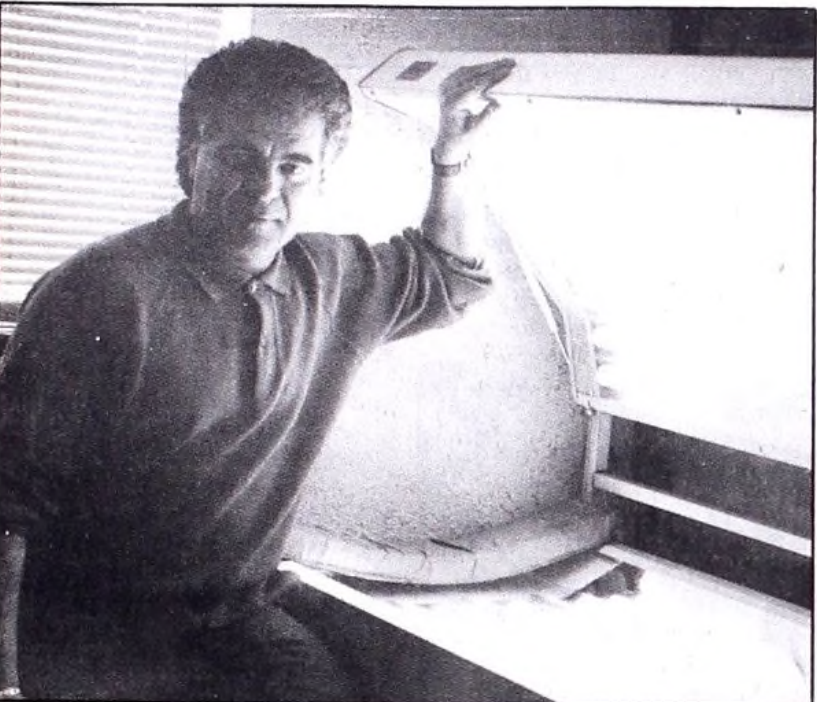

A lot of people go to Florida to visit relatives or they enjoy Walt Disney World."

Individuals interested in finding a paradise island which will turn the winter blues into a faded memory can contact Kelly at Sun Coast Travel 326-0100.

Sun Coast, 34844 west Michigan, is open 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday.

Sunshine abounds in tanning salon

By CRAIG GARRETT
ANP Staff Writer

The warm sun never sets in southeast Michigan, or at least not at the Saranda Hair and Tanning Salon in Westland.

Owner Danny Idrizi says temperature-controlled tanning beds are the quickest and most relaxing way to thaw the icy daze of winter.

"Ten years ago our biggest season was Easter," the veteran businessman said Thursday. "Now people are coming all times of the year, especially in the winter when they want warmth and a nice tan, or they're getting ready to go south and don't want a sunburn. It's been immensely popular over the last several years."

A novice tanner, Idrizi said, is not allowed to just throw on a pair of trunks or a bikini and jump into a tanning bed. Depending on skin texture and color, initial visits are limited to 10 or 12 minutes. An automatic timer shuts the lamps off and tanning sessions lengthen with additional visits.

Guests, he added, can wear whatever they like, as booths are private.

"It depends on where you want your tan lines," said Idrizi.

A variety of tanning packages are available at Saranda (home town of Idrizi's native Albania) including a surprisingly low monthly price, plus five, 10, 15 and 20-day visit prices. Basking music is provided and guests can shower after tanning, if so inclined. His own best customer, Idrizi is hooked on shaking the shivers.

"Tanning helps my old bones feel good and it relaxes me, especially on cold winter days," he joked. "I feel great."

Call 728-4834 and ask Idrizi

TRIP

The "honeymoon package" includes a bottle of champagne upon arrival, a spacious room, turndown service, cable television with HBO and pay for view channels.

Check-in time is as early as 3 p.m. the first day with check-out time being as late as noon the next day.

In the morning, a daily newspaper will be delivered to the room and a hotel keepsake will be supplied for tenants wishing to remember that special weekend adventure.

Cost for the Honeymoon plan is $99 at the Romulus

Marriott and $105 at the Detroit Airport Marriott.

An even less expensive overnight plan ($55) known as the "Park and Fly" package is offered featuring overnight accommodations, free parking and shuttle service to the airport the next day, if needed, for travel details.

We're getting closer.

sure or were once enjoyed. Dramatic changes in sleeping patterns, appetite or weight also could indicate depression. Interestingly, a loss of appetite and dramatic weight loss as well as an increased appetite and dramatic weight gain both could be signs of depression because people react differently when they are depressed," the therapist noted.

Dallwig also cautions individuals that decreased energy, fatigue, difficulty in concentration and in making decisions also could be warning signs.

Individuals whose winter blues linger or whose symptoms are among those listed by the therapist, should contact a professional for assistance in aiding them to overcome their depression.

And I almost surrendered

Last week, a handsome young man saved me from a fate worse than death.

Had it not been for him, I would have surrendered completely to the enemy of every rational, thinking woman.

I had concluded that all my efforts to defeat the unrelenting forces of aging were for naught last week when gazing at my latest efforts in the battle against Mother Nature.

This latest fiasco began when I decided it was time to touch up the rather...er, ummm, fading color of my hair. Let's get something straight from the beginning, here. I am a natural blonde. That is, when I'm not a natural redhead. And, in my far-gone youth, I was a natural brunette.

But lately, I am naturally gray. So, I thought that I was worth it and bought this kit of goo which promised to make my hair lovely, soft, and full of body. Without any gray. Sure. So, following directions carefully, I slapped the stuff which markedly resembles pudding on my head. Slathering it all over my follicles, just as the directions indicated was necessary for success. Even the cat took one look and ran.

My hair is no longer gray. That's true. Of course, it is now no longer any color ever seen anywhere but Earl Schieb's paint chart, either. It has all the highlights of dried clay and is the texture of steel wool. It is so dark, my resemblance to Morticia Addams is remarkable.

This debacle followed closely on the heels of my entrapment by an advertising genius who tricked me into believing that my aging skin needed some of this new fruit acid-based de-foliating cream. The woman at the department store cosmetics counter assured me that this stuff was wonderful, it was going to remove all those "laugh lines" (wrinkles) around my eyes and would make my skin young and dewy again.

Hah. The rash started about the third day. It progressed into huge blisters and hives all over my face and neck.

I looked young, all right, if a face like a pizza is the definition of young.

Then, with an unwelcome birthday rapidly approaching, my beloved husband's charming daughter felt duty-bound to discuss my encroaching old age with the entire population of this office, detailing for all who asked, and many who didn't care, exactly how old I am going to be. Malice, thy name is stepdaughter. Her malevolent and obvious pleasure at this invasion of my privacy only pushed me further toward despair.

And then, it happened. A very handsome, well-dressed young attorney came to my office regarding an accident photo we had published some time ago. Glancing at the prominently displayed portrait of my devastatingly beautiful 2-year-old grandson, he innocently remarked, "Your baby looks exactly like you."

I spent the rest of the day smiling.

Time for tradition

HEARTY RECIPES FROM AMISH & MENNONITE KITCHENS

It's cold. It's windy and nasty. Sleet, hail, ice and bone-chilling frigid winds make this the time of year the human body needs to be fortified against the elements.

And who knows more about old-fashioned, good-for-you, stick-to-the-ribs (and hips) food than the Amish? Only the Mennonites, but it's a real close race when it comes to the groaning tables of food these midwestern folks serve to fend off the winter cold.

This is the time for red meat, no matter what the yuppies might say. This is the time for thick soups, potatoes, vegetables, dumplings and noodles. All the foods needed to ward off the cold and provide enough energy to get out there and dig the car out of the mountain of snow and ice at the end of the driveway where the snowplow conveniently left it. Even those who don't have to fight their way half a mile to tend to the animals in the barn or feed the freezing chickens, deserve the comfort good food can offer against the railing winds.

Now is the time for hearty home cooking to comfort and soothe those who have been battling the weather, even if only on a walk to the garage or gate. Good food can mean comfort and sustenance for both the body and the soul and these are the days that call for some down-to-earth delicious meals which provide a lift to the spirit as well as the taste buds.

Here are some wonderful, hearty recipes from Marcia Adams terrific cookbook, Cooking From Quilt Country, which was a companion to the Public Television series on Amish cooking.

These will warm you just in the reading.

Potatoes and Roast Loin of Pork with Onions

- 1 4-5 pound loin of pork, bone in
- Salt and pepper
- Grated nutmeg
- 3 medium onions
- 8 small potatoes
- 2-4 cups chicken broth
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Season the roast with salt, pepper and nutmeg. Place in a large roasting pan and cook, uncovered, for 45 to 55 minutes, until lightly browned.

Meanwhile, slice the onions thinly (there will be about 1 1/2 cups) and peel and thickly slice the potatoes. Remove the roast from the pan and pour off all fat. Layer the potatoes and onion in the roasting pan (reserve a few onion slices for the top of the roast), and season with more salt, pepper and a very small amount of nutmeg. Add enough broth to almost cover the potatoes. Place the pork on the potatoes and arrange onion slices on top. Reduce oven temperature to 325 degrees, cover, and continue roasting for 1 1/2 to 2 hours longer, or until meat thermometer registers 170 degrees. As meat is roasting, add more broth if necessary. Potatoes should be moist, but not soupy. Sprinkle with chopped parsley just before serving.

Escaloped Corn

- 1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter
- 2 eggs
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 1 1-pound can cream-style corn
- 1 cup milk
- Salt and pepper
- Paprika

Set oven to 350 degree. Place the butter in a 1-quart (10 x 6-inch) glass baking dish and place in preheated oven to melt. In the meantime, prepare the corn batter. In a medium bowl, beat the eggs. Add sugar and flour and blend. Add the corn and milk, and combine thoroughly. Pour over the melted butter, but do not mix in. Sprinkle with salt, pepper, and paprika. Bake for 45 minutes. The pudding will be golden brown and slightly puffy.

Tomato Dumplings

- 1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter
- 1/2 cup finely chopped onion
- 1/4 cup finely chopped green bell pepper
- 1/4 cup finely chopped celery
- 1 bay leaf
- 1 28-ounce can whole tomatoes, coarsely chopped, with juice
- 2 teaspoons brown sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon dried basil or 1 tablespoon fresh (optional)
- 1/4 teaspoon black pepper

Dumplings:

- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 1 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon butter, cold
- 1 egg beaten
- 6 tablespoons milk
- 1 heaping tablespoon finely minced fresh parsley

In a medium saucepan, melt the butter and saute the onion, pepper, celery and bay leaf until the onion becomes transparent, about 5 minutes. Add the tomatoes and seasonings, bring to a boil and simmer, uncovered, for 3 minutes.

In a medium bowl, combine the first three ingredients for the dumplings. Cut in the cold butter with a pastry blender or two knives until the mixture resembles coarse oatmeal. Add the egg, milk and parsley. Blend lightly, but don't over mix. Drop by tablespoonfuls (approximately six) on top of the simmering tomatoes. Cover tightly, and cook over medium-low heat for 20 minutes. Do not lift the cover during the cooking period. Serve in bowls, topped with butter.

Onion Patties

- 3/4 cup unbleached all-purpose flour
- 1 tablespoon yellow cornmeal
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 2 teaspoons rubbed sage
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons finely minced fresh parsley
- 3 shakes Tabasco
- 3/4 cup milk
- 2 1/2 cups finely chopped onion
- Vegetable oil for frying

In a large mixer bowl, combine the first six ingredients. Then add the parsley, Tabasco and milk and blend. Add the onion and mix thoroughly.

Heat the oil, 1-inch deep, in an electric fry pan or skillet from 360 to 380 degrees. Drop the batter by teaspoonfuls into the hot fat, flattening them slightly as you do so. Fry until the patties are golden brown on the bottom, about 2 minutes, then turn and fry the other side for another 2 minutes. When the second side is browned, remove the patties to paper towels. Drain, and keep them warm in a very low oven while frying the remaining batter.

German Cabbage Rolls

- Sauce:
- 1 28-ounce can tomatoes
- 1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
- 1 cup water
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 1/4 cup chopped fresh parsley
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2-3 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1 bay leaf
- 1/2 teaspoon celery salt
- 1/2 teaspoon ground allspice
- 1/4 teaspoon black pepper

Rolls:

- 1 large head green cabbage (approximately 4 pounds)
- 2 pounds lean ground beef, or 1 pound beef and 1 pound pork
- 1 cup cooked white rice
- 1 large onion, finely chopped
- 1/2 cup finely minced fresh parsley
- 2 teaspoons rubbed sage
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon black pepper
- 8 gingersnaps, crushed

To prepare sauce combine all ingredients in a medium saucepan and bring to a boil over high heat. Turn to low and simmer, uncovered for 30 minutes.

Meanwhile, drop the uncured cabbage into a very deep kettle two-thirds full of boiling water. The cabbage floats, so turn it about in the water now and then. Cover and cook over medium heat for 2 to 3 minutes. Remove the cabbage to the sink and separate the leaves from the head at the core end. You will need 16 large leaves, and will have to re-immers the head to get this many softened leaves. Cut off the tough white section at the base of the leaf and set aside.

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees. In a deep bowl, combine the meat and the next six ingredients. Place one large spoonful of the meat mixture on each cabbage leaf. Fold the sides of the leaf to the center and fold over the top and bottom, envelope fashion. Lay the rolls in a single layer in an oiled 10 x 15-inch baking pan, with the seam side down.

Pour the tomato sauce over the rolls, then sprinkle the crushed gingersnaps over all. Cover and bake for 30 minutes. Uncover and bake 30 minutes longer. The rolls will be nicely browned and the sauce a bit thickened.

Shake the blues out of your bones

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

It's time to shake the blues out of your tired and worn body.

And there are many ways and places to accomplish this enviable goal.

But, before you launch your personal fitness program, remember, don't overdo it.

Take it easy and step to the beat of your own drummer.

Moreover, how you attain your goal depends on you - and only you. You know your body. Listen to it. And everything will be all right.

Now, let's get down to some basics.

Walking - you can't beat it, doctors say. You can do that exercise come rain or shine, in place at home or in the mall, or around the street block.

It comes naturally and doesn't cost a cent. Physically, you don't have to be an Olympic champion to do it.

Then, there's cycling. And swimming. And, for those who have the endurance - jogging. Three excellent activities that pay off in huge health dividends, if you put your will to it.

The basics, you see, are easy. The will to get involved, however, must be there.

Also, remember, there are a few very important musts:

- Start off slowly. The pros say that it is best to start off with a 5-to-10 minute activity, such as walking, twice daily at least five days a week. And, by all means, join a YMCA or a YWCA.

There are YMCA and YWCA branches in the immediate area - Mary Rose Cartwright serves as the YMCA program coordinator at the Wayne- Westland branch, located at 26279 Michigan Avenue and can be reached by dialing 561-4110.

- It's important to set long-term as well as short-term goals.

Don't be caught up in trying to do too much too soon. Experts note that if you can exercise 10 hours a week at the beginning - and stick to it - you're well on your way of shaking any blues in those tired bones and muscles.

- Finally, your diet. That plays a pivotal role in your bid for a better you. All the exercise in the world won't offset a menu that consists of junk food and alcoholic beverages. There must be oatmeal and fruits on the menu for breakfast and salads and fish for lunch and a strong dose of vegetables for dinner. And yes, if you want to your body to sing hallelujah, then forget chips and ice cream and bread and crackers and sweets.

Specific programs that you may want to get involved in: The YWCA in Inkster is offering an aerobics class from 6 to 7 p.m. Mondays and also offers a women's self-defense program that accentuates the positive in physical fitness on Saturdays. That program will begin at 1 and conclude at 2 p.m., starting March 6.

Country-style dancing

"Come on and dance," Billy Manning says to the crowd.

Turkey in the Straw may never make the "Top 40" charts, but its popularity will undoubtedly outlast the current pop hits.

Traditional American music and dancing are enjoying a revival with all segments of the population, and probably will continue their upward spiral as long as an Arkansas native dwells in the White House.

"Square dancing is an American tradition which has been passed on from the early settlers. It's a tradition that I'm very proud of," said Billy Manning, president of the Li'l Devils Square Dance Club. "My mother remembers the songs and the dances from her childhood, and I'm sure they are the same ones that people have enjoyed since the founding of our country."

Manning, who lives in Romulus, sees square dancing as an enjoyable hobby, good exercise and an activity in which the whole family can participate.

"Square dancing is simple, plain and it's good, clean, family-oriented fun," Manning said. "I think that's why it's becoming more popular today with young people as well as older people."

"Square dancing is simple, plain and it's good, clean, family-oriented fun. I think that's why it's becoming more popular today with young people as well as older people."

- Billy Manning
president of Li'l Devils Square Dance Club

square dancing began about five years ago when he noticed an announcement for a class in the newspaper.

"My wife, Becky, and I went with the idea of just watching, but we stayed to dance and came back the next week. From then on, we kept dancing," he said. "My wife's sister, Brenda, and her husband, Frank Stidham, also got interested in square dancing, and they're also involved in the square dance club."

Although square dancing may look complicated to first-time dancers, almost anyone can do the simple steps, according to Manning. At a recent demonstration in Belleville, beginners - including several pre-teens - joined seasoned dancers on the floor and performed a variety of simple square dance steps.

"One season of lessons can teach you all you need to know to do any square dancing," said Manning, who teaches a 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. class on Wednesdays at the Memorial Elementary School, 300001 Marquette, Garden City. "Although we're based in Garden City, we have members from all over the area - Romulus, Canton (Township), Wayne, Westland and Taylor."

Manning's Li'l Devils are well known performers in the area, appearing at the Apple Fest in New Boston, festivals in Garden City and Canton and at several events in Cobo Hall, Detroit. The group, which was founded in 1965, also schedules visits to area nursing homes to perform for the elderly.

"Every year, there are gatherings of square dancers throughout the country. I've been to square dance events in Tennessee and also attended the Michigan Spring Fling," Mannings said.

"By the way, we got our name from our red shirts and blouses," said the Li'l Devils' president. "Every group chooses colors, and we chose red. We're really not little devils."

A positive connection

Inspirational performer lifts residents' spirits with positive music

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

If you haven't felt good about yourself in a long time, there is one antidote which will make you change the negatives into the positives.

Outstanding performer Josh White Jr. enjoys bringing out the good in people through his inspirational songs.

White, an enigma in his field, will be gracing the State Wayne Theatre stage 7:30 p.m. March 4 for all residents and 1 p.m. March 6 for children.

White said he began his love for singing at the age of 4.

"My father was a performer," White said. "I would sing and perform with him wherever he went. I performed all over the world with him. He did folk music."

White "sings the songs that make you take pride in yourself." He performed on Broadway with and without his father.

"I've done quite a bit of acting and singing," White said. "I enjoy both because each has its own reward."

He relays a message of respect and spirituality through his performances. White creates his own music as well as interprets popular music into positive messages.

White said he enjoys performing in front of any audience. The largest crowd he inspired was during a visit from the pope when White was asked to perform at Hart Plaza in Detroit.

"That was definitely a large crowd," White said. "I like smaller audiences, however, because I like to be closer to people. I'll play anywhere, but I like to get a feeling like I'm getting my messages across."

"One way I can tell is by looking at the faces in the audience."

White continues to touch the hearts of individuals through his travels around the world.

"The message I try to get across is one of oneness with themselves and their creator and each other," White said. "I try to put messages out there that won't be against you."

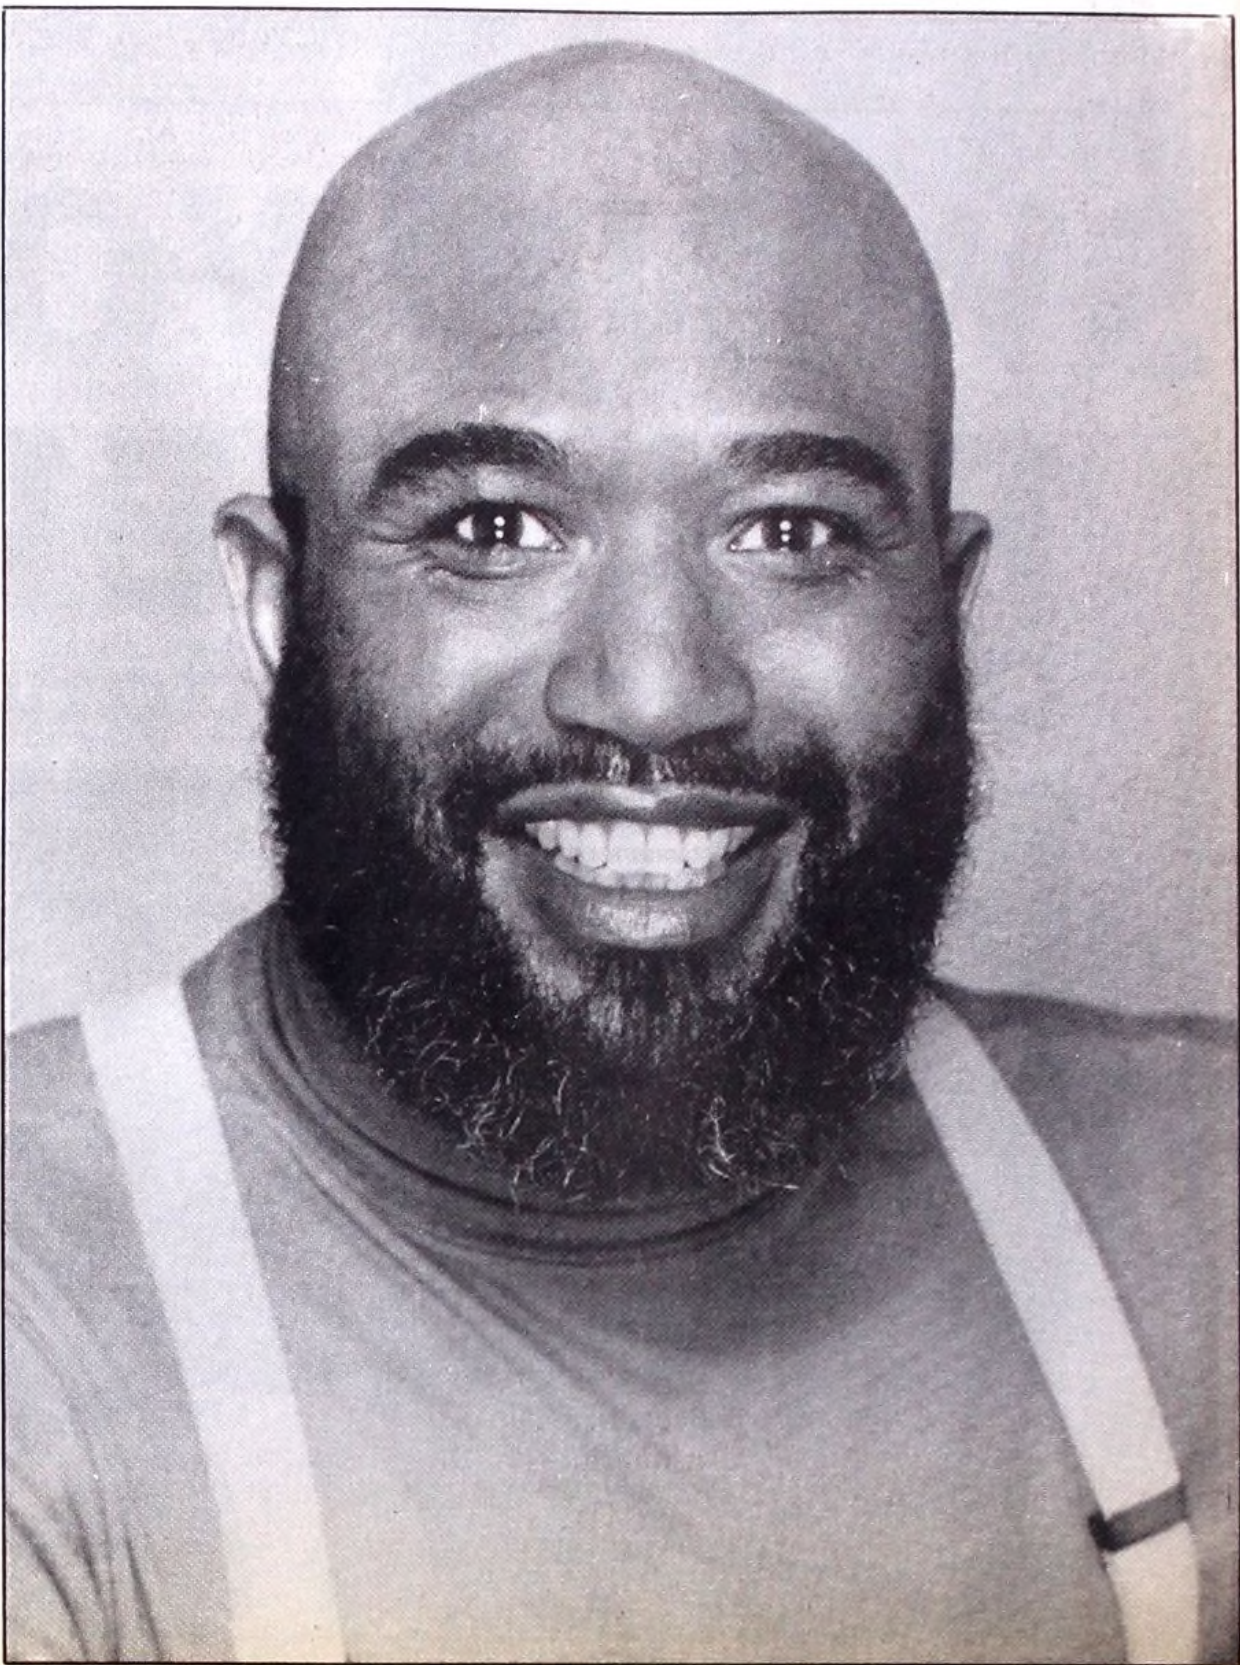

"I like to bring out the good that's within everyone. If you tell someone that they are not good, after a long time they start to believe it."

White's favorite song is the most current tune he is working on called Rising In Love.

"That sounds much better than 'falling in love' doesn't it?" White said.

White has lived in the Detroit area since 1977. He is originally from New York.

Tickets are now on sale for the Josh White Jr. performance. Cost is $5 for adults and $3 for seniors and children. For ticket information contact State Wayne box office at 326-4600, Wayne Community Center at 721-7400 or any Ticket Master outlet.

FOOD

Amish Oven Fried Chicken

- 1/3 cup vegetable oil
- 1/3 (2/3 stick) butter
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons black pepper
- 2 teaspoons paprika
- 1 teaspoon garlic salt
- 1 teaspoon dried marjoram (optional)
- 8-9 chicken pieces

Place the oil and butter in a shallow cooking pan (a jelly-roll pan is perfect) and put in a pre-heated 375 degree oven to melt. Set aside.

In a large paper sack, combine the flour and seasonings. Roll the chicken pieces, three at a time, in the melted oil-butter mixture, then drop them in the sack and shake to cover. Place on a dish or waxed paper.

Place chicken in the pan, skin side down. Bake for 45 minutes. With a spatula, turn over and bake 5 to 10 minutes longer, or until the top crust begins to bubble. Serve hot or cold, but the crust texture is better if chicken is not refrigerated before eating.

Beef and Noodles

- 3 pounds beef chuck roast, well trimmed
- 1 large onion, quartered
- 8 whole cloves
- 1 small green bell pepper, quartered, with seeds and ribs removed
- 2 large carrots, cleaned and cut in thirds
- 3 ribs celery, cut in thirds
- 1 cup fresh parsley springs
- 2 bay leaves
- 1/2 cup instant beef bouillon granules (optional)
- 1/2 teaspoon black pepper
- 3 quarts hot water
- 1 1-pound package medium or thin good-quality noodles
- 1/2 cup chopped fresh parsley

Preheat the oven to 325 degrees. Place the meat in a large Dutch oven or heavy roasting pan with the rest of the ingredients, except the noodles and parsley garnish. Cover and bake for 3 hours.

Remove the pan from the oven and transfer the meat to a chopping board. Scoop all the vegetables from the broth with a slotted spoon and discard them, reserving one or two pieces of carrot. With a knife, shred the meat in to bite-size pieces, and chop the carrots very finely. Return the meat and carrots to the broth. Stir in the uncooked noodles. Cover the pan and return it to the oven. Bake 1 hour and 15 minutes longer, or until the noodles are tender. Stir once during this time, begin careful not to break up the noodles. Also check now and then to see that the broth has not been absorbed by the cooking noodles—if your pan is a heavy one, that won't happen. If it does, add some additional broth as needed. Sprinkle with the copped parsley just before serving. This is great over mashed potatoes.

Spareribs and Sauerkraut

- 6-7 pounds pork loin country-style spareribs
- Salt and pepper
- 3 1-pound cans sauerkraut, preferably mild Bavarian style
- 1 1/2 cups coarsely chopped cooking apples, (Granny Smith or Yellow Delicious)
- 3/4 cup coarsely chopped onion
- 8 whole cloves
- 2--4 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon black pepper
- 1 1/2 cups chicken broth
- Chopped fresh parsley

Preheat broiler. Arrange the ribs in a shallow roasting pan, and sprinkle with salt and pepper to taste on all sides. Broil 6 inches from heat, browning all sides. This will take about 30 minutes.

Reduce oven to 325 degrees. Drain sauerkraut very well. In a deep, heavy Dutch oven, combine kraut and the remaining ingredients except parsley. Arrange ribs on top, pushing them down into the sauerkraut. Cover and bake for 2 hours. Baste twice by spooning pan juices up over the ribs. Make sure the liquid does not cook away. If it gets low, add more stock. (This will not be a problem if you use a heavy pan.) Transfer ribs and sauerkraut to a large platter, and sprinkle with parsley.

Country Stew

- 2 pounds beef stew meat
- 3-4 potatoes
- 3-4 carrots
- 2 ribs celery
- 3 small onions
- 1 28-ounce can tomatoes
- 1/4 cup water
- 5 tablespoons minute tapioca
- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon black pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon ground allspice
- 1/4 teaspoon dried marjoram
- 1 bay leaf
- 1/2 cup chopped fresh parsley

Preheat oven to 300 degrees. Cut meat into bite-size pieces. Peel and cut the potatoes into pieces a bit larger than the meat. Clean the carrots, celery, and onions, and cut all into 1-inch pieces. In a large, heavy roasting pan, or a ceramic slow-cooker pot, combine all the ingredients except the parsley. Bake, covered, for 5 hours without stirring. Add parsley just before serving.

'Home Alone' tale has happy ending

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

It's a Home Alone story, of sorts.

One that Inkster police say ended with a smile.

But, as the details unfolded, there were some concerned moments.

On Wednesday, police officers were put on alert for a missing child.

"We got a call that a 7-year-old kid was missing for several hours," related Detective Charles Hines. "Our concerns were compounded when we heard the kid was last seen entering a car with a older man."

"We got a call that a 7-year-old kid was missing for several hours. Our concerns were compounded when we heard the kid was last seen entering a car with a older man."

- Detective Charles Hines

Hines said that the first call came to the office at around 4:30 p.m. and for about seven hours police unsuccessfully searched the southeast section of the city in hopes of finding the child.

The missing child had been seen playing with his 6-year-old friend. And, when the friend was questioned, he managed to tell police that a car pulled up while they were playing and a man got out. The man ordered the child into the car and then drove off.

"That's all we had to go on," Hines said. "However, this man apparently was a relative and took the child to his grandmother's home."

Hines said that officers went to the house and found the child was safe.

And where were the parents of the child?

"That's a good question, and we're going to interview them to see what story they have to tell us."

Newspaper birthday to be celebrated

We're spry, spirited and proud of our longevity.

On March 10, the Belleville Enterprise, one of the six hometown newspapers published by Associated Newspapers, Inc., will observe its 107th anniversary.

Founded by Roscoe Begole and A.E. Smith in 1886, the newspaper has published continually since that time, serving Belleville, Van Buren Township, Sumpter Township and the surrounding communities.

In observance of the occasion, the newspaper is hosting an open house at the Belleville office, 116 Fourth St., at the corner of Main Street., between 4:30 and 6 p.m. March 4.

Insurance bill faces changes

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

While the Lansing 1993 model of auto insurance reform (featuring a 16 percent premium cutback) sped out of the Michigan House of Representatives' Insurance Committee by a vote of 13-2 late Thursday, it faces major rework as it spills out onto the House floor this week.

Twenty second State District Rep. Greg Pitoniak (D-Taylor) said both he and the Democratic Co-Chairperson Mary Brown abstained from the voting because they felt additional debate was needed to occur on the medical cost cap limit issue.

Because a new month begins Monday, a switch will occur in House leadership power as the GOP Co-Speaker of the House Paul Hillegonds takes over from his Democratic counter-part Curt Hertel, while Democratic committee co-chairmen will rule the numerous House committees.

The monthly leadership trade-off was worked out earlier this year following a 55-55 party tie in House membership.

As the bill stands now, it would freeze the new premium rates for six months upon passage, and place a $1 million cap on medical benefits.

Pitoniak said he threw in an amendment proposal to hike that cap rate to $2.9 million but it failed. Committee actions Thursday were a "messy process," Pitoniak said, because of the pending change in leadership roles due this week.

Rather than vote against the bill leaving the committee and create further hard feeling between parties, Pitoniak said he decided to abstain at this time and fight for his changes on the House floor.

Other features of the current bill are:

- Allowing car owners to pay extra for additional caps (up to $5 million) if they wish.
- Preventing drivers, who are more than 50 percent at fault, from suing.
- Limiting to 112 percent the amount hospitals can over-charge auto insurers for medical care for accident victims. Some reportedly charge up to 135 percent at this time.

Pitoniak said he expects to get a Democratic analysis of the bill by Tuesday and expects major debate on the bill on the House floor before it is approved.

While William Cillufo, director of government relations for AAA, calls the measure a "sound bill," Richard Stoddard, president of the Michigan Citizens Lobby, charges the bill "is just as bad or worse than the Proposal D" ballot proposal that was nixed last November by state voters.

Stoddard said the bill contains no safeguards that the insurance companies wouldn't increase rates in the future.

Dirigibles are so called from the Latin word dirigere, meaning to direct, because they were the first manned flying machines capable of prolonged flight and of being steered.
